The Design Process

When you initiate your project with Mtek Digital, we will help you build your web footprint. We will work with you to identify visuals, colours, and key messages. You'll consult with our design team who will create concept mock-ups of the visual design.

You will have an opportunity to give feedback on any points you feel need to be changed and our team will work with you to address these and ensure the design is one that you absolutely love before final implementation.

With approved final designs in hand, our development team will integrate your messaging and content – we will work to turn them into a fully functional website and provide you with complete ownership of the final product.
